

To whome it may concern: I just wanted to express my support as a listener for Air1 Radio. Although some people feel there is little value in national radio broadcasting, Air1 has done more on a local level than any radio station. The ministry it provided encouraged me to join a local church and yet communicate with other listeners and friends of faith throughout the nation. Simply put, I have become a better person thanks to Air1 and so have many others. It is therefore in the public interest to allow FM translator radio stations to continue. I would be devastated if I lost Air1 because LPFM stations (most of which suck) were given priority. Thank you. Daniel Harris
